DO YOU KNOW?

THE ANNUAL REPORTS YOU SHOULD CHECK EACH YEAR FOR POSSIBLE ID THEFT?

As we all know, it really behooves us to be vigilant about checking our financial statements and paying attention to our account activity. Below are the annual reports you should check each year for signs for possible ID theft, and where to get them. Most are free.

1. Choice Point Full File Disclosure - includes all public records, auto and homeowner claims reports, pre-employment background checks, searches for criminal records and evictions, and address history. Go to www.choicetrust.com and click on "Access your Personal Information."
2. Social Security Statement - we get them right before our birthday or you can go to www.ssa.gov and click on "your social security earnings statement."
3. Annual statement of medical benefits - contact your health insurer.
4. MIB consumer file - has records of all your medical conditions, tests, driving records, hazardous hobbies. Go to www.mib.com/html/request_your_record.html.
5. Prescription drug history - has information for the past five years. Call Intelliscript at 877-211-4816 and Medpoint at 888-206-0335.
6. Driving record - contact your state department of motor vehicles for a copy. There is a fee.
7. Rental history reports - information on your rent payments, etc. Contact First Advantage Safe Rent, at 800-815-8664 or go to www.fadvsafere.com/consumer_relations/index.php. For your Rent Bureau report go to www.rentbureau.com/multifamily and click on "consumers."
