

What is an Advertising/Community Network?

David Gussin
April 2009

Hello everyone. What is an advertising/community network? One way to define it is by what it is not. It is NOT your traditional negative media. Here's some differences between traditional media & a advertising/community network.

With traditional media, they report problems. An advertising/community network works to do something about them.

With traditional media, you have to hire reporters to go find the horrible stories. At a advertising/community network, the good stuff comes at you from all over the place.

With traditional media, hate make headlines. At a advertising/community network, the silent majority roars.

Our advertising/ community network is off to a nice start. There's lots of work to be done. Thanks to our advertisers, sponsors & contributors and everyone who has been a part of building 516Ads.com & 631Ads.com Long Island's Advertising/ Community Network.
