

Counting Down...

November 2009

Eight weeks and counting down!

Why wait until those last few days to get out and get shopping? Why not start thinking about the perfect gift right now? Who wants to deal with the crowds, in a store where the employees are even more unhappy to be there than you, let alone motivated to help you? Pushing and shoving, do you really want to fight with the next lady over this year's "Tickle me Elmo" doll, which consequently your daughter won't even remember you got her?

Make this year special. Not only should the woman, man, or child in your life love and remember the gift you decide to give, but you can have an enjoyable shopping experience as well, keeping with the spirit of the holidays. Our family owned and operated locations are staffed with caring professionals, all of us willing to spend the extra, more personalized time with you to hand pick the perfect piece of jewelry, or the most precious of collectibles for your loved one.

Make it memorable. Jewelry can be such a sentimental gift, made even more special perhaps with an engraving, which often times can be done while you wait. Or how about a one-of-a-kind piece designed by you and hand made by our expert Jeweler on the premises? That special someone will always remember this Holiday Season after you give the gift you designed straight from the heart.

Some other ideas!

This November and December, Marie Richards Jewelers and Trollbeads have come together to offer a FREE BRACELET with the purchase of an upgraded clasp. (Free bracelet valued at $36 with the purchase of a clasp starting at $46, see store for more details). You can start with as little as one bead on this unique sterling silver charm bracelet, and continue your story piece by piece, occasion by occasion.

Engraved gifts from a simple name on an ID Bracelet to a Bottle of Champagne etched with your company's logo and a personal message can be great gestures of appreciation at the office as well!

We would love to meet you. Come visit one of Marie Richards Jewelers' two beautiful locations and tell us about yourself. We will take the time to help you choose the perfect gifts for your loved ones this Holiday Season. Let us help you make it memorable.
